Our Sustainable Future

24,000 voices, 1 green vision

As your Environment and Ethics Officer, I will present motions to Council for practical changes you will see on campus.

I held this position in my first year where I campaigned for a conscientious use of paper during KCLSU elections and promoting the Green Ambassador training for all heads of societies.

This year I want to ask: What is our vision for a sustainable future?

As a research-institute King’s can bring together policy-makers and business people. I want to use the contacts I have made throughout my two years at King’s to organise this event and have our student body ask the questions.

Together we can play a leading role in shaping the future.
